About This Book

This work catalogs 250 of the deaths that occurred in the City of Toronto in the year 1869. This was the first time in a serious manner that provincial officials began documenting and keeping vital records. Before that they were kept sparingly and were non compulsory in Ontario. This booklet covers half of them since the law began on July 1st of that Year.

What Details Does This Index Furnish

From The Records?

Name of the Deceased: This includes any first, last and middle names if they were written into the record. Some short forms appear and they are: Geo=George, M=Mary, Robt=Robert and Wm=William.

Age of the Deceased: Depending on the record informant (the person supplying the death info for the record) age details vary and can be found written in terms of y=years, m=months, w=weeks, d=days, sc=seconds or NG=Not Given.

Place of Death: All deaths are recorded as having taken place in the county of York but all deaths herein took place in what is today the city of Toronto.

Cause of Death: Causes of death appear in this index how they do in the original record usually with the same spelling mistakes. Many entries list the duration of the cause, whether illness or disease. Bear in mind some of the enclosed illnesses no longer exist under such names but have been given new appellations with the passing of time.

Date of Demise: This is the actual date of death of a person and not the death registration date. Some dates are not given (NG) and therefore the registration date appears instead.

Source. Registration No.: The source is always the same. That is, Ontario Death Registrations available online that were originally microfilmed by the Genealogical Society of Utah/Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and then later digitized. The Registration Number is included and prefixed by the year a death was registered. For instance Archibald Stewart Black, who died Dec. 11, 1869, but whose death was registered the following year, has 70-003777 listed in the source column.
